MISSREF State — as of 30 September 2011
MISSREF — documents in the RFC Editor queue that have normative references to other documents that have not yet been approved for publication.

The following graph shows the number of MISSREF documents and their length of time in the queue. For the most part, these documents are in a stagnant state until the missing reference documents have entered the RFC Editor queue, or until they have been replaced with references to other existing works.

Please see http://www.rfc-editor.org/all_clusters.php for detailed MISSREF information.
